Broomball between the Fats and Skinnies and lots of other things. Be there at 7 p.m. when the lid is pried off and stay until the fireworks. Tickets 50c and 25c. See bills.

THE GRAVELLED ROAD

There is nothing very definite as yet regarding the Secondary Highway from Lethbridge to Cardston, via Raymond and Magrath. The Department of Municipal Affairs has given no answer regarding enlargement of the Municipality, and until this permission is given, nothing can be done in the way of organization, elections and the selling of bonds.

When the Hon. O. L. McPherson was in Lethbridge last week, Secretary O. H. Snow of Sugar City M. D. had a lengthy conversation with the Minister of Highways, and while Mr. McPherson stated that the Government were anxious and ready to go ahead on this Highway on the 50-50 basis they could do nothing until a decision was handed down by the Dept. of Municipal Affairs.

Mr. Snow has written this Department again, suggesting that they take immediate action on this matter so that the local work may be accomplished and a definite proposition submitted to the Legislature while it is in its present session.

Cardston Defeated By Raymond Hoop Artists

Tit, tat, too three in a row, was the outcome of Friday night's basketball games at the High School. The Temple City "H" came down about 30 strong headed by "Ken" Allred, and made a very impressive showing on the floor and in the gallery.

The Junior teams met first at 7:30 and Raymond won this encounter by wide margin. The locals probably had a slight advantage in size and weight, and a decided advantage in combination work and shooting, putting the cowhide through the hoop quite regularly.

The second game of the evening was between the girls teams of the two schools, and Raymond went into the game determined to wipe out the defeat received at Cardston, and they accomplished this to the tune of 15-8.

This game furnished the spice of the evening. The girls went at it at times more or less regardless of rules running with the ball, using both hands on the dribble, and various other errors which kept the whistle blowing frequently. It was featured by close-checking, however, and each member of the two teams worked hard all the time.

THE MAIN GAME 32-16 SCORE

Prolonged and vociferous applause greeted the two High School teams when they made their appearance. The fun and excitement started with the first whistle and until the final whistle interest never lagged.

Card and Snow were the aggressors in the local lineup, and as Card was checked pretty closely, he generally managed to get a pass to Snow who bulged the nets for five field baskets in the first half.

Wood and Smith were the stars of the Cardston quintette, but playing a five-man defence which they adopted a lot of their shots were too long and failed to register.

The game was fast and interesting from the start, and Raymond had to play every minute to keep in the lead on the score boards.

Ken Stone and Earl Zemp had the whistles and gave perfect satisfaction to all the players.

This makes four consecutive wins for the Raymond High School with two games now away from home. Good luck boys!

Come again Cardston. You're good sports and we appreciate playing against such timber.

Ross May of Magrath was a Raymond visitor last week.

Temperatures in Manitoba over the week-end were as low as 32 below. Alberta and Saskatchewan reported mild weather.

Alberta Wheat Growers Face Big Problem

It would be idle to hold that the wheat growers of the world are not facing a serious problem in the marketing of their product. The world is raising more wheat because the methods employed in wheat raising have become so simplified that huge tracts can be put under that crop.

John G. Haney, I. H. C. farming expert, who is in Southern Alberta on a speaking tour, told the Herald the other day that the Panhandle of Texas, which he would have sworn 20 years ago could never raise wheat, in 1929 produced 35,000,000 bushels. Profits can be made on sub-marginal land raising wheat with the present day combination of tractors, combines and the large tillage implements.

Mr. Haney also stated that Russia is ordering modern wheat raising machinery by the boatload—tractors, combines, ploughs, drills and all the rest—and the Soviets are planning million-acre blocks to be farmed co-operatively or communistically, or however they do things over there now. Of course, Russia has 140,000,000 people to feed, and that will take a lot of wheat, but the fact remains that with lots of people, lots of fertile land and plenty of equipment, hundreds of millions of bushels of wheat can be raised, and it may not be so many years before the Russian Bear starts to pour a surplus of wheat on a world market which, in the past few years, has seen an ever-rising tide of holedoves and surpluses.

In view of these facts, Southern Albertans may well do some pondering. It is useless to deny that the battle is on, and that the race is going to be won by efficiency. Now efficiency in farming the wheat farm means more than mere tillage and sowing and reaping and marketing. The farmer must become a business man as never before. He must cut his cost per acre and raise his per acre production, so that the bushel cost will be reduced to the very lowest point. It is of no use to have tractors and combines and high-class machinery if the farm is producing an average of only 12 bushels to the acre when it should be producing 18 or 20 bushels. Soil fertility plays a large part in production costs and if we are going to wheat our land to death in the next ten or twenty years without putting something back into the soil, then we may expect that efficient farmers elsewhere will be selling wheat at a figure that gives the 10 or 12 bushels per acre farmer no profit.

We have had a number of good crop years here in Southern Alberta and there is no denying the tendency to think that all talk about keeping up soil fertility on land which has been producing 30 and 40 bushel crops of wheat is so much bunkum. The man who thinks that way is just digging his head into the sand and refusing to heed the warning. We can increase our average yield on the average farm and cut the cost per bushel, by following a rotation that will build up the fertility of the soil. To follow any other course is simply to invite disaster when the real wheat battle comes.—Lethbridge Herald.

PREMIER BROWNLEE ALMOST CERTAIN TO HOLD JUNE APPEAL

Farmer Members of Legislature Said to be Anxious to Have Matter Settled for Another Term in Order That Natural Resources Machinery May Be Set Up

Edmonton, Jan. 25—It is pretty generally accepted in Farmer political circles here that the Brownlee government will go to the people in a general election in June or early July next. The last general election was held in 1926.

The belief is held that, following the success of Premier Brownlee and his government in consummating the natural resources transfer agreement, the time is ripe to ask for a new mandate so that the government which is to launch the machinery for administration of the natural resources will have a period of years ahead in which to get the machinery running smoothly.

It is said that the private members on the government side of the house will vote in caucus for a June election.—Lethbridge Herald.

Factory Deputation Meet Management Of Sugar Factory

IMMEDIATE BUILDING OF SECOND ALBERTA FACTORY NOT VERY HOPEFUL

RAYMOND PLANT MAY BE ENLARGED

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 23—Utah-Idaho Sugar Company officials met a deputation of beet growers from southern Alberta in this city yesterday when the question of additional sugar factory facilities in southern Alberta were discussed for five hours. The deputation was given a cordial reception by the management and directors and the whole sugar situation was gone into carefully.

A formal memorandum of the case for the growers will be filed with the company today and the company will give a written reply.

Chief Obstacles
The chief obstacles in the way of additional factories at this time seems to be the unsatisfactory decision on the sugar tariff, the beet sugar industry having been disappointed in their failure to secure additional protection against the inflow of sugar from the tropics. On the whole the sugar industry in the United States is in a somewhat depressed condition with prospects of business unsettled. Hence the reluctance of companies to expand.

The company may agree to enlarge the capacity of the Raymond factory this year to take care of the increased tonnage, also to increase marketing facilities on the Turin branch pending a decision on a new factory business conditions are more stable.

It is probable that the Alberta delegation will open negotiations with at least one other company before returning north.—Leth. Herald.

The Raymond High School Basketball team journeyed to Lethbridge Wednesday evening for a League game with the Colligate which they won by a 44-20 score. The Lethbridge fans and players were all real sports and showed our contingent a real time, which was fully appreciated by Raymond.

Fascinating Links In Canada's History

History does not always give credit to those who do the most for civilization. It is difficult to estimate the benefit to the world of the work of the cartographer, Herman Moll, a Dutchman who came to England 1680, and in 1715 composed an atlas of his maps. The encyclopedia does not even mention his name, but a visitor to the Dominion Archives at Ottawa will find that the most correct, interesting and artistic maps are the work of this almost unknown man. He made maps, copied maps, engraved them, and compiled them into one of the earliest atlases. Not only are the maps geographically correct for their time but they are illustrated in some cases with sketches of the inhabitants of the country depicted.

One of these maps is a colored engraving of Denmark and Sweden. "According to the newest and most exact observations of Herman Moll, geographer," and it is dedicated to "His Excellency, John, Lord Bishop of Bristol, Lord Privy Seal, and Her Majesty's first plenipotentiary at the treaty of Utrecht." The map itself is amazingly correct and the printing on it is most wonderfully fine and yet quite readable. The map is a double page of his atlas which appeared in 1715 and has been carefully framed to preserve it, tho the crease of the page is still to be seen. The territory shown includes Lapland and it is of the inhabitants of this land that the illustrations have been made.

Down one side of the map are these small pictures showing "a church for such as are Luthereans, with a basin full of brandy with a spoon in it at the porch, of which every one that enters it takes a sup. The priest, the chief man in the parish, and a bride with two bridesmaids followed by the bridegroom and friends." Another picture shows figures standing upright in what look like wooden boxes and this we are told is their way of burying. A short distance away a figure is kneeling before a skull and cross, bones, which the author tells us is "their manner of praying to death to spare them awhile longer." Then follow many pictures of their houses, dress, and food, but perhaps the most interesting of all to us is a gentleman on a very modern looking pair of skis which is "their way of sliding with great activity over the snowy mountains." The last picture is also very amusing for it shows a gentleman with both arms around his deer and the inscription is "A Laplander whispering the rein deer what he should do or whither he must go."

Only a Telephone Cord -- but!

What infinite care and preparation were necessary to call it into being. From the far corners of the globe came silk and cotton while the earth yielded up its copper ore. Famous scientists, engineers of renown and workers skilled in their particular operations have all contributed to produce these connecting sinews of modern communication. In the Northern Electric Company's great plant at Montreal the finest copper tinsel is covered with silk and cotton threads then twisted into cords of the necessary size and, passing through the most intricate machinery, is covered with a braided silk covering. All this must be done right, if the humble telephone cord is to carry the nation's conversations through the years.

WILL IT BE DIVERSIFICATION OR DISASTER?

John G. Haney Agricultural Expert of the U. S. C. is in Southern Alberta again on a lecture tour telling the farmers how to keep up the fertility of the soil and to make culture profitable.

In an interview with the Herald, whose article we have reprinted on our front page, Mr. Haney points out to the farmers of Alberta farmers even thinking that they can make a go of it by straight wheat farming year after year. Read his article and consider his reasons.

In the face of advice from an authority like Mr. Haney, how many more years will we continue to frown at a program of rotation and continue gambling with wheat and going a little farther in debt all the time.

This does not mean that no wheat should be raised, far from it. It simply means that unless we come to a realization of the facts and face the matter fairly and squarely, adopting a diversified program of stock raising and crop-growing, the fertility of our land will be so depleted that wheat crops will not even pay our taxes. By rotation and putting something back into the soil instead of a ten or twelve bushel wheat crop we will have a 50 or 60 bushel crop of better grade wheat, because of a good condition of the soil.

Into this kind of a program enters wheat, oats, beets, alfalfa, sweet clover, pasture and so on. And with these crops go hogs, sheep and cattle to eat up the by-products of the farm. The difference between successful and unsuccessful farming, lies very largely in the system of rotation one adopts, and the livestock kept to make use of the by-products of such rotation.

We are strongly in favor of a crop of beets on every farm where irrigation is possible. We are often told that there is no money in 8 tons of beets to the acre. We do not advocate 8 ton beets, we advocate 16 18 and 20 ton beets and we believe that this tonnage is just as much possible here as any place else, if a system of good rotation is followed and the fertility of the soil increased. One point often overlooked is the fact that our soil has been wheat cropped for so long that its fertility is nearly used up. What shall we do?

To answer the question thoroughly and technically would require an expert with more knowledge of soil composition than we have, but generally it means we must find a means of growing a revenue producing crop that will help build up soil fertility and give us an income at the same time, and in this respect we maintain that there is a great value in beets aside from the tonnage that goes over the scales, because it demands an intensive cultivation of the soil that makes a very valuable surface mulch it assists greatly in weed control and eradication, worth a good many dollars per acre, and it leaves the tops for feed which leaves every farmer without excuse for not keeping a few head of cattle or hogs, either one of which are certain mortgage lifters.

Why will we continually bump our heads on the same post? Wheat is never certain. The seasons are not sure, the markets are erratic, the yields are decreasing continually, except in bumper years, and still a great many of us, refuse to profit by the experience of others and nigger along in want and debt because of our absolute, though misplaced faith in straight grain farming.

"MADAME X" HERALDED AS BOOST TO TALKING FILMS

M-G-M's Picture Marks Big Development in Technique

The prediction made with the release of "The Broadway Melody" that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer would show the industry some startling developments in talking pictures has once again been confirmed.

While Hollywood is still discussing "The Broadway Melody," Willard Mack's "The Voice of the City" and "The Trial of Mary Dugan," all of them amazing revelations in the talking field, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer now comes forward with still another marvel of the talking screen, it's "Madame X."

"Madame X" which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre next week was the sensation of the hour at its Hollywood preview, as it was at its first showing in New York.

What M-G-M is doing in its sound studios is engrossing the attention of all producers of the West Coast. More than any other company now, M-G-M is showing how limitless is the future of the talking screen, as demonstrated by such productions as "Mary Dugan" and "Madame X." In the opinion of non-partial observers these photoplays carry far more punch than the original stage plays and show how motion picture technique may be blended with that of the theatre to supply a powerful new entertainment medium.

"Madame X" marks Lionel Barrymore's debut as a feature picture director, and critics present at the preview and at its premiere declare it will establish him as one of the top-notch figures in talking films. Barrymore had built up a reputation as an adroit character actor, but it was only after he had turned out the all-talking short subject "Confession," that M-G-M executives gave him a chance to fulfil directorial ambitions.

Ruth Chatterton's performance in "Madame X," in which she plays the title role, is said to represent the greatest acting triumph of her memorable career. Raymond Hackett and Lewis Stone, both of whom were featured in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," have also contributed stellar character portrayals in the new picture.

Hollywood is awaiting with intense interest further talking revelations from M-G-M, but meanwhile "Madame X" will be a new mark for the studios to reach for.

SCOUT CONCLAVE GREAT SUCCESS

SCOUTING GROWING IN POPULARITY EVERY YEAR

E. J. Fawns, our District Scout Commissioner, and Harry Fairbanks, who represented us at the Scout convolve in Calgary last week, are home again full of enthusiasm and pep to put Scout work over in Raymond and the Taylor Stake, better than it has ever been put over before.

The Convention meetings were held on Friday and Saturday, and the officials of the Provincial organization, men, women, of prominence and influence, which leaves no doubt as to the final successful outcome of the Boy Scout movement.

Lieut. Gov. W. Egbert of Alberta had charge of the Friday night meeting and in his opening address said "Boy Scout work has the right to demand support of every citizen. He also spoke of some of the fine things scouting stands for.

Dr. Macleison, Provincial Commissioner said "The biggest thing that confronts this province and all Canada is the problem of making good citizens of boys, and the Boy Scout movement is doing that."

W. J. Dick the Provincial President said "It is not only the responsibility but the privilege of the cities to help Scout work in rural districts, as in the cities themselves."

Surely with such men at the head of the Provincial organization, we can not help but feel that every dollar we give and every hour of work we do in Scout work is for the cause of Youth and progress.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS ON SESSIONAL AGENDA

Ottawa, Jan. 27 (Special to the Recorder)—Parliament has been summoned to assemble on Thursday, Feb.
20th, for the fourth session of the sixteenth Parliament. The date, a week later than last year, is said to be due to the desire to have the three federal by-elections concluded and to conclude other conferences and arrangements before the House meets.

The volume of business in sight is large, and may be said to be contentious in many cases, especially in view of the fact that, this being the fourth session of the parliament, there is usage for dissolution and a general election although no indication of such has been given by the Government. Even if it is certain that an election will not take place, however, political warfare is in the offing.

The tariff will probably come in for chief attention, especially in view of the fact that the United States Congress is expected to dispose of its tariff revision. If the provisions of the new tariff affect Canada adversely, agitation for similar tariff action will no doubt find its way into the House.
In addition the Canadian Tariff Board has been extremely busy for the past few months and will resume its sessions shortly, so that there is every indication that tariff changes will be foreshadowed in the budget.

Another proposal certain to evoke discussion is that of the United States for a large armed force along the border to enforce prohibition. Linked up with this question is the one previously discussed of prohibiting the export from Canada of liquor cargoes to the United States. Two main arguments pro and con, are stressed. On one side is stressed the supposed moral obligation of Canada, to help out its neighbor in making prohibition effective, and the fact that Canada is collecting millions in toll from a business which is in violation of the American statutes. The other side points out that the cost of aiding the United States to enforce its laws would be great; Canada would be losing a large amount of revenue if it prohibited the export of liquor, and other countries are not banning such exports to the United States.

As for the armed force along the border, such is looked upon as a potential hazard to the present harmonious international relations. Whether Parliament will sanction the co-operation mooted, is doubtful.

The St. Lawrence waterway project will also come up this Session, although there is nothing to show so far, that the treatment will be legislative. An international angle in this connection is that the establishment of the new lake terminal at Prescott will necessitate the deepening of the channel. The channel is international and dredging by both the United States and Canada will be necessary.

The fourth international question will have reference to the Sockeye Salmon Treaty, which was held up last year.

In line with domestic legislation there will be the ratification of the agreements with natural resources, and it is possible also that Saskatchewan may be included, although negotiations cannot be said to be very complete with the latter government.

The Companies Act and Grain Act are two other measures due for consideration in the House; and in addition the report of the Royal Commission appointed to look into the question of salary revision for the technical and professional officials of the government service, is expected some time during the session.

A large number of private bills and divorce bills in addition indicate that the session will be a busy one, especially in view of the reference discussion which the questions enumerated are liable to evoke.

Running well ahead of schedule steel work on the 21-story addition to the Empire's largest hotel, the Royal York, additional construction is being rapidly pushed forward and the sixth story is now completed.
All steel work is expected to be finished early in February and everything will be completed by June 1st, when there will be a total of 1,181 guest rooms at this palatial Toronto hostelry.

Hitting a 90-mile an hour clip, a special Canadian Pacific train recently carried two-and-a-half-year-old Delphis Morin, who was thought to be dying of intestinal influenza, from Sudbury to Toronto, for a blood transfusion in the Toronto Western Hospital. Leaving at 1:05 the train reached destination at 6:35, all traffic having been held aside for the special. At 8 the operation was performed and half an hour later the boy was smiling at his friends. He is now well on his way to recovery.

Fighting against Atlantic winter gales the cable ship John W. Mac-Kay has just successfully completed another epic of the seas in effecting repairs to the high speed cable of the Commercial Cable Company over which much of Canadian Pacific cable business is carried to Europe. The cable was smashed in the great quake of November 18, the break being discovered within 36 hours of the arrival of the ship on the scene, raising the cable from a depth of 2½ miles and at a point 80 miles from the western end of the break being part of the job to be done.

"Canary Korndyke Alcarta" a five-year-old Holstein Friesian cow, which a year ago claimed the world's championship as a butterfat producer with 26,396 pounds of milk containing 1,080 pounds of butter-fat in 305 days, has beaten her own record. Following her 1928 record this famous cow was the guest of honour at a banquet in Moose Jaw. The latest record for "Canary Korndyke Alcarta," is 30-801 pounds of milk with 1,336.25 pounds of butter-fat.

Honey to the amount of 55,181 pounds was produced in Nova Scotia in 1928, according to official figures, and the 1929 output will likely be much larger as the summer season of that year was much more favorable, says Philip Bishop, of Greenwich (Port William), the largest bee-keeper in Nova Scotia.

Within from four to five years thousands of farmers throughout the province of Saskatchewan will have the benefit of all-weather roads running in all directions. The provincial government plans to spend $5,000,000 annually during the next few years on the construction of six main highways, all-weather surfaced.

Notwithstanding the growing popularity of the motor car and motor power farm implements, the horse is evidently not going into the discard as rapidly as some people might be inclined to believe.
Latest official estimate of number of farm horses in Canada as in June, 1929, is placed at 3,376,487.
In 1919 the number was 3,667,369, a difference of only 290,882.

About 50,000 tons of hay have recently been exported from Eastern Ontario and Quebec to buyers in the British Isles. The 1929 exports of hay from Canada are greatly in excess of those of 1928.
